FROZEN VEGETABLES

We Preserve the Freshness of Our Products in the Field !

The journey of our products begins with planting healthy seeds under the control of Agricultural Engineers.

Our products are harvested right in the season when their nutritional values reach the highest level. After a few hours after harvesting, we sort and clean the products in detail with modern methods, and then we preserve their nutritional values with their freshness on the harvest day by shocking them at -40 degrees.

We handle every stage of our products from seed to reaching your table with utmost care, and we present our products with superior taste and quality. We have Metal Dedector, X-Ray and Sorter Machines in our process to have the standart quality without any foreign material.
